

Switching to Soverin is easy.

THIS GUIDE WALKS YOU THROUGH IT
IN JUST 6 SIMPLE STEPS.

01. Sign up at Soverin

Create your account at soverin.net/register.

You'll set up your email address using your own domain name—so you stay in control. Choose a username (e.g., your name or role) and pick a supported domain extension. The domain is yours to keep.

02. Set up your account

Next, configure your preferred email apps or log in via my.soverin.net.

Setup instructions are available at soverin.com/help/setup

03. Set an automatic reply on your old account

Let people know you've switched. Set up an automatic reply (often found in the account settings under "Automatic replies" or "Out-of-office") with a message that mentions your new Soverin address.

04. Create a forward rule

To make sure nothing gets lost, set up forwarding from your old email account to your new Soverin address. This also helps identify which contacts still use your old address.

05. Tell your contacts

Send an email from your new Soverin account to let friends, family, and services know you've switched.

Also remember to update your email with important platforms (e.g., banks, healthcare providers, delivery services).

06. Victory! You've liberated your inbox

From here on, enjoy using your private, independent inbox.

Need help?
Visit soverin.com/help for support.